

AGBA Executive Education

Powered by American Management Center (AMC)

AGBA Accreditation Services, in collaboration with American Management Center (AMC), delivers a comprehensive ecosystem for quality assurance and executive education. As the official training arm of AGBA for Executive Education programs, AMC plays a central role in designing, delivering, and advancing high-impact learning experiences aligned with international standards.

About AGBA & AMC Partnership

AGBA Accreditation Services is committed to setting global benchmarks in training, education, and professional development. Through its strategic partnership with AMC, AGBA ensures that its Executive Education offerings are not only accredited, but also practically driven, industry-relevant, and aligned with real-world business needs.

Founded in 1993, AMC has a strong legacy in human capital development, consultancy, and leadership training. With decades of experience across the MENA region and beyond, AMC has trained thousands of professionals and leaders, equipping them with the skills needed to drive organizational success.

This partnership bridges accreditation excellence (AGBA) with training expertise (AMC)—creating a powerful platform for professional growth and institutional development.

Executive Education with Global Standards

AMC delivers AGBA-aligned Executive Education programs that are:

- Accredited and internationally benchmarked
- Designed for practical, real-world application
- Focused on leadership, strategy, and organizational excellence
- Led by experienced trainers and industry experts

Programs are developed using advanced instructional design methodologies, ensuring measurable learning outcomes and tangible impact on both individuals and organizations.
